

MELT!

Rising temperatures and rain can turn a snowy landscape into a devastating flood.

When winter snows melt too quickly the ground can't absorb the water. Rivers, streams and drainage ditches can overflow and sewers can back up, making everyone vulnerable to flood damage.

Yet as bad as that can be, finding out your homeowners insurance policy doesn't cover flood damage can be far worse.

Give yourself peace of mind.

90% of all natural disasters in the U.S. involve floods. Protect your home, apartment or business with flood insurance from the National Flood Insurance Program. Act now, since it takes 30 days before your coverage begins.
